

Harsh Times: The David Harsh E-Newsletter

Dear Whitney,

Hello! Thank you for subscribing, and for taking time to read this e-newsletter. As we enter the beautiful season of autumn, I have some fun ministry developments to share with you.

Summer Shows Went Well

I got to open for a few national acts this summer, including Above the Golden State, Kutless, Point of Grace, and Ernie Haase & Signature Sound. Ernie and his gospel quartet played to a full audience at the Southwest

Washington Fair, and during their finale song "Amen," they briefly became a gospel quintet, because Ernie actually brought me up onstage to sing! You'll see me in the picture, to the far left, next to Ernie Haase. It was quite an exciting experience!

The 2011 David Harsh Guitar Symposium - Additional Savings!

As you may have read in a recent e-mail blast, registration is now open for my 3rd annual Christian Guitar Symposium. Held at Seabeck, WA (near Bremerton), this weekend is an immersion experience into the guitar for those who use it for worship leading, songwriting, and performing. Only 9 spaces are left. As of this writing, we are reducing the cost per person by an additional $50. Register before November 13th to get the new early bird rate of $450. This weekend of guitar study and fellowship makes a great Christmas gift. To learn more about this exciting weekend, please click here. To view a full color PDF flyer about the weekend, please click here. To print a registration form, please click here.

Back to the CMS for my 4th Year

I'm delighted to be teaching again at the Christian Musician Summit in Redmond, WA for my 4th year in a row. This conference is a great place for Christian musicians to find tools to improve their skills and to inspire them. Featured at this year's conference will be Israel Houghton, Phil Keaggy and many other talented Christian artists and clinicians. I will be teaching two workshops, and may have the spontaneous opportunity to play a few songs again on the lunchtime stage -- we'll see!

One December Sunday Still Available - 12/5

Churches, if you're looking for a family-friendly musical experience that celebrates the birth of Christ, please consider my Christmas concert. It's 100% Christmas music, with original, traditional and modern Christmas songs. I interweave my stage creativity as well. December 5th is the only remaining Sunday that has not been booked. Please click here to learn more about my Christmas tour. You can e-mail Whitney to book me on that date.

New Concert Promotional Video

If you're considering coming to one of my concerts, and you want to help get the word out, please click here to watch my new dynamic 2-minute video which shows what concertgoers can expect to experience at one of my shows!

Touring Within the US and Beyond

The Lord has opened doors for me to serve outside the Pacific Northwest. I just returned from appearances in Bozeman, MT and Lincoln, NE (see photo above) and will be flying out this weekend for my Canadian debut in Alberta. Please let me know if you have recommendations of churches, schools, camps or conferences that you think might appreciate my music ministry, wherever they might be!

Jeff Hoffman: The End of an Era

If you've seen me in concert (and even on YouTube) you've been blessed by the excellent audio mix and visual media that I have onstage. Some of you have noticed the gifted man at the sound and media booth, but if you haven't, he's the reason the music levels have been dialed so well, and the slides have flowed so smoothly. Jeff joined me to offer his technical gifts at a concert on July 25, 2004 where I debuted "Four Limbs." Since then, he has served alongside me for over 6 years, at over 300 appearances, in 5 different states. He and his wife, Sue have traveled thousands of miles to help make my ministry shine. After more than 6 years of faithful, gracious service, the Hoffmans are moving on. I count it a privilege to have had them alongside me for so long.

Wrap-Up

As always, I'm looking for more opportunities to serve. Please keep me in your prayers, and feel free to forward this newsletter to anyone you think might be interested, especially if it's someone at a church who brings out guest artists, or someone who plays the guitar. Whitney and I are so grateful to have the opportunity to minister in this exciting capacity. We look forward to seeing you at an upcoming concert or seminar!
