Harsh is a native Washingtonian who began his serious musical study in college, where he learned to sing classically in six languages. He soon discovered a desire to pursue Christian music, and began writing his own songs and taking private guitar lessons. Harsh has since studied with 5 of the best acoustic guitarists in the world, including Phil Keaggy, Alex De Grassi, and John Renbourn. He is now in full-time music ministry, performing all over the country.

Harsh has won numerous awards for his work, including first place in a national songwriting competition through the AGMA (Academy of Gospel Music Arts.)

Harsh has independently released 3 full-length albums. More information about his ministry, including video clips and sounds clips, can be found on his website at www.davidharsh.com and on MySpace at www.myspace.com/davidharsh.
